SHOCKS IN STORE FOR PSL

Some big shocks are in store for all soccer followers when the plans for next season's PSL competition are released.

At least this is what I was informed on Sunday by a leading member of the PSL management committee.

Last week the management committee met in Sydney to discuss and make recommendations on a document of 300 odd pages, or 300 odd pages — which ever you care to believe — presented by the ASF Marketing Company.

The management committee made decisions and recommendations which will be disclosed to the clubs and the Press at a later date.

What these recommendations are I just don't know, and in fact I dread hazarding a guess.

However as usual as in many cases in this weird and wondrous Australian soccer setup, I'm perplexed.

By

TOM ANDERSON

Can somebody please tell me who really makes the decisions in Australian soccer at the moment?

Just who are the policy makers in this set-up?

Like many other people I thought that the ASF executive was elected to do just this, but seemingly I'm wrong.

For it now looks very much like the policy-making is in the hands of the ASF Marketing Company.

If so — just what experience or qualifications have these marketing people to administer soccer?

They are marketing experts and no doubt leaders in their field.

But having met all of them I must be honest and state, with no apologies, that their knowledge of the game leaves much to be desired, and to make important decisions on the future of a game that is not fully understood, is nothing less than amazing.

For if these policies fail then these guys can go back to marketing soap powder or some other commodity.

But who is going to be left to pick up the pieces?

In my opinion soccer once again has its priorities wrong.

Somebody should make it plain the marketing people are there to market the game and to promote it — not to make import policy decisions.

Mind you, they are not the only ones to blame — what about our well-known administrators who are sitting aside and letting this happen?

As usual, many of these gentlemen are ducking for cover and "not getting involved".

The general cry at the moment is "Do not rock the boat in case of upsetting the World Youth Championships."

And while this is happening, others are making hay while the sun shines.

You know I firmly believe the ASF should adopt a new motto — and maybe Rik Booth and his marketing company can draw a little badge to go with it.

My motto for Australian soccer would be — "Always put off today what which you hope will be forgotten tomorrow."

See you next week.

Match change boosts Hellas

South Melbourne Hellas president Sam Papasavas this week boosted his club's championship hopes by having Hellas's postponed game against Brisbane City rescheduled.

Hellas would have had to play against Brisbane City next Wednesday without Alan Davidson, Steve Blair and Steve Woodin who will be on World Cup duty.

Without those players Hellas easily could have lost not only the match but also the championship.

As a comment to Press, Mr. Papasavas was confident that the match against Brisbane City would be played later in the year.

"If this were a regular league match, we could not have asked for the date to be altered," he said.

Fiji's two games in three days

Fiji claims it has been put at a disadvantage by FIFA and the New Zealand Federation over dates for its World Cup games.

Fiji meets Australia at Olympic Park on Friday week. It asked that its match against New Zealand be played on August 22 to allow sufficient recovery time between matches.

However, New Zealand had scheduled the game for August 16, and stuck by that date.

Fiji apparently complained to FIFA but got no satisfaction.

New Zealand will win the Oceania World Cup group if it beats Fiji.

And just as Australia is likely to beat Fiji in Melbourne, so New Zealand should beat the islanders.

The Australian squad is: Maher, Crook, Ahearn, Wheatley, Blair, Niven, Sharne, Byrne, Barnes, Mitchell, Cole, Henderson, Katholos, Hunter, Krnecic, Brennan, Raskopoulos, Russell, Kosmina, Jankovics, Ziras.

Alan Davidson is injured.

The squad is expected to be reduced to 16 tomorrow (Thursday).

HOUSEMAN FARCE FINISHED

The Rene Houseman farce is over.

After announcing four weeks ago it had signed Houseman, Sydney City Kahoakha now has broken off negotiations with him.

The Argentinian international was due to arrive in Sydney at least three times since negotiations started, but he never turned up.

His younger brother Marcelo arrived a few weeks ago and has been playing in Sydney City's youth team.

GERMANY SHOWS US THE WAY

Branislav Krstic of Blacktown is destined to become a major player in the Philips League — and his background in top-class German soccer has a lot to do with it.

Krstic, who played for Nuernberg in the Bundesliga and Villingen in the Second Division, has lots of stories to illustrate the highly professional nature of German soccer.

He tells, for example, about the Bundesliga coach being interviewed by Pressmen, while his players are doing handstands behind him, as part of their training warm-up.

The coach talks with the Press at length, but the players just kept on doing those handstands, because they hadn't been told to stop.

Krstic says players who try to take it easy during a game, lose the respect of their team mates.

RALE RASIC

Even worse, a player who dares to slow down to a walk for more than two or three metres is usually taken off and replaced straight away.

There is also a vast difference in positional play. German soccer line-ups are totally flexible, with most players sharing each other's duties.

Here in Australia the positions are more rigid and there is a general lack of surprise, or unpredictability.

Krstic, 30, is here with his wife and two children and he signed a contract last week that binds him to Blacktown until the end of 1982.

He is as strong as a horse, exceptionally skilful and a typical playmaker.

Krstic and his fellow Yugoslav Jovan Djordjevic, plus striker Paul Burrows provide Blacktown with the element of experience which most of the other players lack.

* * *

With more and more Australian players planning to try their luck overseas, it's time our own clubs recognised the value of such players and thought up schemes to give them the financial motivation to stay here.

The time must come when the clubs pay the right players the extra few thousands that their ability warrants.

The clubs could do this by paying the right players to do public relations work, for example, or to run coaching clinics.

George Christopoulos of Hellas is the latest young Australian to go overseas to try his luck.

Apparently he missed out at PAOK in Greece but George has exceptional tenacity, so if he keeps trying, I'm sure he'll make it.

Look at the example of Craig Johnson.

At first he was told by Middlesbrough he had no future there. Then he had an operation and was out for 12 months yet still he had the guts to go back and to try to convince the club he could do it.

Now he's a million-dollar Liverpool star.

Tommy Caton played junior soccer in Adelaide, and now is a top English First Division player.

Yakka Banovic of Heidelberg had the dedication and the will-power to try it overseas, and he's making a name for himself at Derby.

Peter Kathol and Alan Davidson want to try their luck as well. I say good on you and I wish them luck.

They must go when the time is right.

Sneak preview of soccer film

For Soccer fans the soon-to-be-released film "Escape to Victory" is a must.

Sylvester Stallone, Michael Caine and Max Von Sydow sign up for the greatest soccer team ever assembled in "Escape to Victory" a new World War II adventure film.

They are joined by football great Pele (pictured in the defensive wall above).

The film is set against a backdrop of soccer as you have never seen it played before by many of the world's top athletes.

They portray a group of rag-tag allied prisoners of war forced to play in a life and death match against the German National team.

They are determined to win and carry out a daring escape plan.

What's best of all is that there will be a sneak preview of the film at the Waverley Cinema, Pinewood, Blackburn Road, Mt. Waverley, on August 11 followed by a chicken and champagne supper.

The Syndal Electorate Committee of the Liberal Party have been fortunate to secure this sneak preview for Waverley and people interested in attending should contact Mrs. Ann Neville on (03) 232 7492, Geoff Coleman said this week.

"Escape to Victory" is a Lorimar/Freddie Fields production and it is directed by the highly esteemed John Huston. The film was filmed entirely in Hungary, utilising a huge three-acre prison set up in the ground of the Alag Riding Stables, 18 km from Budapest.

The replica prison took three months to build. Another major setting was the

M.T.K. Stadium, home of one of Hungary's best known football clubs, which in "Escape to Victory" represents Paris's Colombe Stadium.

In a massive production 250,000 extras were used during the 53 days of shooting and as many as 28,000 extras in a single day. For the soccer fans, such stars as Pele (Brazil) Werner Roth (U.S.) Robbie Moore (England) Osvaldo Ardiles (Argentina) John Wark (Scotland) Kevin O'Callaghan (Ireland) are there for you to see in action.

For the film buffs there's Stallone, Caine and Von Sydow. No wonder this film got a standing ovation at Cannes Film Festival.

"We are proud to bring this film to Waverley for a sneak preview," said Geoff Coleman, "as I understand it is a best seller overseas."

'Cross breakthrough

Victorian State League club George Cross agreed in principle with the Keilor Council last week to lease 30 acres of land and start work on a massive sporting complex.

The club will negotiate a leasing arrangement for the Kororoit Creek Reserve in Taylor's Rd., St Albans.

Cross commissioned a feasibility study about developing Dean Street Reserve in Sunshine. The club negotiated with Sunshine commissioners Alex Gillon but it's likely that the deal will fall through and the Kororoit Creek project will get preference. "This is a feather in the cap of every committee member involved," said club president Alf Zahra.

"When we are finished we will have built a monument to all those who worked so hard to establish the club's own sports complex and we will have provided an important service to the local community."

Cross plans to build three playing fields on the land at Taylor's Road, as well as an extensive two-storey clubhouse to house a social club, gymnasium, changing areas and toilet facilities.

An athletic track will ring the main pitch which will be available for local schools and athletic bodies.

The west ward of Keilor Council encum-passes Kororoit Creek Reserve and the council for that ward, Keilor mayor Charles Apap and Alex Andrianopoulos, are enthusiastic about George Cross finding a home after 34 years in Victorian soccer.

"76% of St Albans' population has an ethnic origin and supports soccer," said Apap.

"I believe that the Kororoit Creek Reserve is well situated, being close to a residential area and the project will be of great value to the local community."

Council had asked the right step in agreeing in principle to the deal.

The western suburbs area is a soccer stronghold. No doubt about that," he said.

"George Cross has been invited to make use of Kororoit Creek Reserve for the benefit of the western part of our municipality. There's a boom in junior soccer here and the kids in the area will benefit from the George Cross move."

"We're happy to provide the club with a fine home after its lengthy involvement with Victorian soccer."

WHAT IS SKILL?

Mike Johnson

goalmouth to Boland and his aides.

Not one Footscray player put in a shot at goal before the game.

This lack of awareness of goals was transmitted into the game with Footscray completely lacked penetration without attacking.

At the time of writing Footscray had scored 20 goals from 22 games — an average of 9.0 of a goal a game. (Editor's note: The rate has since gone up.)

Which brings us back to what is skill?

Skill certainly is the ability to receive the ball well, even under pressure, then pass it accurately to another player, which is a trait I admire in Yugoslavia players.

It still is for more than that.

In an attacking context it means getting the ball forward for players to make penetrating runs, from penetrating passes ending up with shots on goal, or for players to dribble through on their own end up with shots on goal.

These are the real tests of attacking skill, in fact the most difficult skills in the game.

And it was in this area that a depleted Sydney City was far superior in skill to Footscray.

The dribbles of Boden, the long shots of Murray Barnes, the wall passes of Joe Watson, the probing through balls of sweeper Alex Robertson and the crosses of Steve Murray constantly penetrated the Footscray defence.

The gifted Jovanovic and Iloski who kept Footscray in the game in midfield, continually played balls square and wide to the wings where attacks were often snuffed out before they had progressed more than a few metres into the Sydney City half of the field.

The resultant 3-0 scoreline to Sydney City reflected the captain of the Slickers' desire to get the ball and players continually into positions up front which threatened the Footscray goal.

Keeper Dennis Boland is a beautiful distributor of the ball, especially with his long kicking.

He also has tremendous reflexes, which he used on one occasion to make a point-blank save.

On the other hand, like Peter Laumets of South Melbourne Hellas, he is weak on crosses, which he needs to do something about.

His continual punching of balls during pre match warm ups would not help him.

Mr George Cross — that's Maitland

By CRAIG MacKENZIE

Norm Maitland's 32 going on 25 and he judges a bloke on what he is not what church he goes to.

Belfast born and bred, the stopper is in his 10th season with Victorian State League club George Cross.

During that time he's seen the highs and lows of football, had a run in with a couple of coaches and a team mate and been involved in a threatened player strike.

All that and more for a player who didn't like the idea of training as a youngster so he gave the game away and went to work in the Belfast shipyards.

Maitland's a genuine person first. Being brought up as a protestant amid urban, sectarian conflict comes a distant second.

Belfast represents good memories and bad. His life style here is better.

"I immigrated here with the intention of staying and this is the place I'll live for the rest of my life," he said.

"I went back home in 1977 for a holiday. My only regret when I returned to Australia was leaving my folks back in Belfast."

"The Belfast environment can be harsh but you'd be amazed at how adaptable people can be. At one stage if you weren't involved with the protestant side or the catholic side and stayed away from the trouble areas you could live a reasonable life. Now there's a barrier around the city centre in Belfast. You're searched when you pass through that barrier and once inside, the police or the army can stop and search you at any time. It's not the sort of environment I wanted my kid to grow up in."

Maitland started his competitive career at Dunlambert Secondary School. There he played with four school sides — the minors, intermediates and seniors. During his last year at school he trialled with Irish League side Crusaders.

"I didn't like the idea of all the physical stuff required at training. Running laps and the like. So I started work in the shipyards when I was 15."

"Then an electrician by the name of Roy Gordon roped me in to play football with Bramagh Mission in the churches' league. We got into the final of the Diamond Cup which we won 3-2. I was captain of the side and we beat Lower Shirehill Old Boys in the final. After the match the president of a First Division Amateur League club, Civil Service, approached me.

"I played about six games with Civil Service before a scout from Dundela, in the Irish League B Division, got me to sign for them. I played about a season and a half there then I was on the move again, to Distillery in the First Division of the Irish League. The manager of Distillery was Jimmy McAlinden and he was a good friend of my manager at Dundela. I think that's how the move came about."

"After about a month with Distillery I was made captain of the reserve side. Then I broke into the first team as a stopper because the club professional, Peter Rafferty, who also was the first team captain, was suspended for four weeks. When he came back he told McAlinden that he wasn't happy playing twin centre half with me. McAlinden took me aside and told me that he was happy with the way I was playing but because Rafferty wasn't happy I had to switch to right back."

"We were all basically amateurs then and part timers. It was the old $10 stuck in your shoe trick in those days. Actually we got about $20 and Rafferty was on maybe $30. That's why I said that he was the club professional."

George Cross was keen to sign Irish players so the club placed an advertisement in a local Belfast paper asking for a scout to represent it in Belfast.

Jim Emery, a striker with Bangor, applied successfully for the job. The following week another advertisement appeared in the paper asking for players interested in going to Australia to play with the Cross. Maitland applied, not knowing that Emery was the scout. The two had clashed the previous week when Bangor and Distillery played against each other.

"We had a real kicking match that day," said Maitland.

"Before I'd even had a touch of the ball he came up to me and said he'd break my legs. That was enough for me so I got stuck into him right away. I didn't know it was him I was speaking when a few days later I rang up to answer the George Cross advert. I told him who I played for. He knew me straight away. He said that not only had he seen me play but that I was the bastard that kicked him on the weekend. He recommended me to George Cross and I arrived here with my wife in June 1972."

It was easy for Maitland to settle into his life in a new land. He had an immediate group of new friends among the George Cross players. But the style of State League soccer was different to what he had experienced.

"It took me about six games to acclimatise to the game out here. For a start there had been a severe drought and the grounds were rock hard. My game's pretty physical and the referees penalised me a lot at first. And I had calouses all over me from grass burns."

Alec McConville, now playing with rival State League side Sunshine, had picked Maitland to Australia by a few months. McConville and Maitland lived in the same block of flats and developed a friendship which endures today. McConville was one of the players who Maitland was sorry to see leave George Cross.

John Sanchez was coaching then Maitland has a high opinion of him.

"John was a good coach and a really straight forward guy. If he had something to say to you he would come out and tell you to your face."

Sanchez resigned his coaching post in 1973 believing that some of his players had stabbed him in the back. Ken Patterson took over. He clashed with Maitland.

"I fell out with Ken Patterson. I had been injured in the weekend game but turned up on Thursday night and told Ken that I had received a transfer and that I was fit to play. He told me that he had selected his team and wasn't going to change his mind. I asked the club for a transfer.

"But when things are going bad it's usually the coach that gets the flak when in fact its the players who aren't making it happen out on the field."

"I have to say that Ken Wagstaffe was the best coach I've played under. He took a bunch of blokes who hadn't had a win in their first four league games in 1976 and led them to an 11 or 12 game unbeaten streak."

"When he arrived he made us train three times a week and on Saturday mornings as well. He had the knack of running you into the ground but you'd enjoy it. His training routines were so varied. You might work on something one night and you wouldn't get anything similar for weeks."

"He was a nice player, a top class English professional and he was an inspiration to the whole side. He told you

Maitland lunges with a sliding tackle against Kaz Piotrowski, then with Sunshine.

"I think the club put some ridiculous fee on my head like $15,000 and I said the whole team wasn't worth that much."

"I decided to emphasise that I'm never had a major fall-out with the club. I'm a pretty easy going kind of guy and I'm realistic about my ability, in fact I'm probably my harshest critic."

"You get some players going to the club to renegotiate a contract and saying that if they don't get, say $5000 to sign on, then they're not going to play but that's not my style. I always believe in compromising and negotiating."

Maitland first experienced the threat of a player strike early in his stint with the Cross. It was at the end of the 1972 season. It was to leave a lasting impression.

"There was some sort of interstate cup that had to play in. We had to fly up to Sydney and because the club was paying the air fares and the like we were told that we couldn't get a match fee. Well the players got together and we decided that we would play a game, win, lose or draw."

"It was one of the years John Gardner won the Rothmans Medal with George Cross. I think on the night of the match the VFL officials came up to John and asked him to go up to Sydney with George Cross for the sake of Victorian soccer. Anyway the end result was that half of the first team went and half of us stayed. Once the club had the nucleus of a side it dragged other players from out of the reserve team pool and flew up to Sydney where it lost all its games."

"There was a bit of bad feeling among the players. I thought that we all would stick together and abide by our original decision to hold out for a $30 match payment."

"But I'll never let that happen to me again. From that moment on I told myself that I would do all my negotiating myself."

"And George Cross hasn't let me down. The club never had to owe me great amounts of money for any length of time. Everything it has promised me it's given."

"The fans at George Cross are colorful, emotional people in the main, often spurred on by national pride, quick to praise a winner and berate a loser. The George Cross club is an integral part of Victoria's soccer scene."

"I remember the celebrations in '77 after Billy Wilkinson became the first coach to coach George Cross to the State League championship."

The fans put the players on a pedestal. Everyone wanted to slap you on the back and celebrate. It was a terrific atmosphere."

"But when things are going bad it's usually the coach that gets the flak when in fact its the players who aren't making it happen out on the field."

"I have to say that Ken Wagstaffe was the best coach I've played under. He took a bunch of blokes who hadn't had a win in their first four league games in 1976 and led them to an 11 or 12 game unbeaten streak."

"When he arrived he made us train three times a week and on Saturday mornings as well. He had the knack of running you into the ground but you'd enjoy it. His training routines were so varied. You might work on something one night and you wouldn't get anything similar for weeks."

"He was a nice player, a top class English professional and he was an inspiration to the whole side. He told you certainly wasn't me because I don't work that way. Any differences I had with Archie Campbell he told him straight to his face."

Maitland has re-established himself as the regular stopper in George Cross's 1981 campaign. He's under coach Jim Adam, the man who took West Adelaide to the PSL title in 1978.

"Jim Adam is a coach with a professional approach. Perhaps at times, he's too professional for George Cross. He has some out of the ordinary methods but I get along with him well."

"We've got a fair side together this season but we haven't got a prolific scorer like Kenny Reed or an exciting winger like Cullen. Bobby Tully's an excellent ball player though."

Maitland has been through 10 long seasons with the Cross. He's seen good players come and go. Asked to name the best George Cross eleven from the many players he's played alongside he came up with this line-up:

Lou Kastner — Alec McConville, Billy Wilkinson, Norm Maitland, Derek Barron — John Gardiner, Ken Wagstaffe, Godwin, Robbie Cullen, Ken Reed, Kevin Walker.

I should emphasise that I picked Maitland in that team. After all 10 years is a lifetime to some people."

But Maitland isn't keen to end his association with George Cross.

"A couple of years ago when I turned 30 I wonder whether I still want to be in it. And last year when I was dropped I had the same thoughts. But I know playing as long as my form is good and I'm enjoying my game. I'll know before a few others when the time comes to give the game away."

"Then I'd like to coach George Cross."

"I'm not a player overendowed with talent. I'm physical but I'm fair and I've got an abundance of enthusiasm. You see players with bags of talent but little heart. What I've got I think I use well."

Norm Maitland doing the job he does so well — protecting the George Cross goal.

Tough for Slickers, J.U.S.T. to win

A feature of this contest will be the clash between Alan Evans and McMillan. Both are aggressive competitors. There could be some fireworks between them.

McMillan tackles as if his life depends on it but he won't want to dive in as he was prone to do last year in the Victorian State League.

Evans pushes and shoves and blocks his way up front, taking the brunt of the heavy work as Hellas's target man. His skills are first class, his commitment is total.

If Makedonia player-coach Peter Ollerton plays up front he will have the benefit of experience on his side against Socceros stopper Steve Blair. But Blair is developing into a top-class talent. He certainly has the physical attributes to mix it with "Ollie" all the way.

And the clash between Vince Compton, the consistent, competitive Hellas full back, and Makedonia's enigmatic Doug Brown should be great spectacle. Brown will know he's been through a tough 90 minutes against Bannon at the gate.

Claude Lucchesi is hitting the goal trail since moving into a striking role where his close ball skills can turn a defender inside out inside the area. Hellas won't want to give him much room.

But Hellas should keep those smiles on the faces of its fans grinning broader by the week as the countdown to its first PSL title gets underway.

I expect Sydney City to finish on an even keel with KB on Sunday. Slickers' striker John Kosmina will find the experienced Roy Drinkwater a dour, uncompromising opponent.

KB will be looking to Graham Heys and David Jones to stretch the Slickers at the back and allow Bob Mountford to escape the clutches of Peter O'Connor.

Blacktown has the chance to pick up an invaluable couple of points against an out of sorts Canberra line-up which has conceded a walter of goals in recent weeks.

I think Canberra is a better side than Blacktown but it's hard to get out of the mini slump which has hit George Murray's side.

It's out wide that J.U.S.T. will trouble Olympic and create space for Verweij or one of J.U.S.T.'s midfielders to come through and put Olympic keeper Peter Wilson under the hammer.

Brisbane Lions should beat Marconi at Richlands on Sunday.

That old destructive duo, Hermiston and Bennett, should cope with Mark Jankovic and Eddie Krnacevic while Alan Niven takes care of Peter Sharne.

At the other end of the ground big Calvin Daunt should win a few important balls in the air and former Dundee striker Billie Williamson will pounce and convert most things that come his way.

West Adelaide won't beat Heidelberg United at Hindmarsh Stadium on Sunday.

I got great odds about Gary Cole topping the PSL goalscorers list at the end of the season and I had a few bob on the blonde Berger.

I'll be laughing all the way to the bank in a few weeks time and Cole will put a smile on my face on Sunday when he terrorises the West Adelaide defence.

APIA should beat Brisbane City at Lambert Park on Sunday.

If Peter Wilson takes care of Paul Wilkinson's aerial threat and Zdenko Kafka rules the roost in midfield the Brisbane side won't find any joy in its Sydney jaunt.

I can't split Wollongong and Adelaide City which meet at the Wollongong Showground on Sunday.

I mean, after all, they're two of my favorite sides. I have to stay in the good books with both camps.

It's a bit of a spiteful, temperamental match clash in which there were no winners.

The loss of a valuable point certainly did not help the Slickers' quest for the 1981 PSL title and it more opened the door for South Melbourne Hellas.

The capture of what should have been a valuable point for Blacktown was neutralised by the other teams in the relegation struggle winning.

So as you can see, there were no winners - not even the game of soccer as some of the goings on in this critical and high-pressure clash were disgraceful.

Players kicked each other at will and in the second half, an all-out brawl erupted after Blacktown goalkeeper Bruce James sprinted 30 metres to hit Slickers striker John Kosmina.

And after the mayhem was over and the referee blew the final whistle, the two coaches - Rale Basic of Blacktown and Eddie Thomson of the Slickers go into the act with their own sideshow.

These two gentlemen for whom I have the greatest respect, held a slanging match on the touchline.

Who said that the pressure of football doesn't get to you?

Racic told Thomson: "If you played for the team last season you wouldn't beat us."

Eddie Thomson retorted:

"You should be more worried about beating the weaker teams and avoiding relegation."

In the dressing rooms afterwards, Thomson called Basic

the other teams in the relegation struggle winning.

Hellas oozes class in best PSL victory

SM Hellas 5
West Adelaide 0

Scored: Blair 3rd, Evans 1st, 2nd, 5th, and 61st, Steven 5th.
Venue: Middle Park
Crowd: about 4000.
Referee: Dennis Voutsinas 8.
SOUTH MELBOURNE HELLAS: Leutens 7 – V. Bannon 7, Blair 7, Xanthopoulos 7, Lutton 7 – Cummings 9, Stevenson 8, Shirra 9, Buljevic 9 – Woodin 9, Evans 9.
WEST ADELAIDE HELLAS: Crook 7 – Maricic 5, Kambas 4, Marwa 4, Bozanic 6 – McGregor 6, Honeyman 5, Brown 6 – Manecas 6, Lorenzen 5 (Grgic 65th), Smythe 5 (McKie 69th).

Style, intelligence, poise and class – South Melbourne Hellas had it all in this game.

Duncan Cummings was back – and he was back with a vengeance.

Branko Buljevic, whose future at Hellas was in doubt only a few weeks ago, taunted and teased with his superior skill, Steve Woodin turned opponents at will and would have grabbed a few goals with a little more luck.

And the master himself, Alan Maricic, notched his second hat-trick in as many games. He also scored three in Hellas' 41- victory over APIA two weeks earlier.

Now he's top scorer in the league – and he probably would have been further in front had he not been suspended from the game against Wollongong.

Jim Shirra and John Stevenson ruled the midfield once again, and the defenders made everything look ridiculously easy.

The victory was Hellas' biggest in the PSL. Some say it must be seen as an aberration because West Adelaide was drained of spirit by goals in the 3rd minute and 4th minute.

But let's remember Hellas also destroyed APIA and that the quality of its play at the moment is quite remarkable.

What's more the dissection of West Adelaide took place without Alan Davidson and Bill Rogers who were out injured.

West Adelaide had so little to offer that it managed only three direct shots at goal – two by Colin Gregson and one by Ian McKie, both late substitutes.

West coach Peter Jakska had Robert Marwa marking Evans, Zoran Maricic on Buljevic and Vic Bozanic on Woodin, with Con Kambas sweeping – if that's what it could be called.

Cummings, however, was allowed to run free and caused West Adelaide's galore until Jakska assigned Tim Brown to pick him up after half time.

Whatever match plan West may have had was rendered ineffective after Steve Blair opened the scoring in the 3rd minute, assisted by a goalkneepling mistake by Martyn Crook who allowed the shot to slip through his legs.

Crook, however, made up for the miss by saving a few certain goals later on.

One had to feel sorry for poor Marwa. Being the club from the SA State League a few weeks ago, he had no chance of stopping Evans.

Marwa was nowhere to be seen as Evans beat the ball past Crook for the second goal in the 18th minute.

Crook was beaten by a good shot from Shirra shortly afterwards but Bozanic cleared off the line, with Hellas claiming unsuccessfully that Bozanic had handled the ball.

Woodin played the ball square into the penalty area for Evans to score. Hellas' third goal in the 26th minute, and then Crook made an uncanny one-armed save of a close-range shot by Cummings.

A Woodin-Buljevic build-up gave Cummings another chance but again Crook saved.

Now he's top scorer in the league – and he probably would have been further in front had he not been suspended from the game against Wollongong.

The pre-match announcement to Sydney Olympic players of the likelihood of an overseas tour in October helped them to summon their resources and hold on for a 2-1 win over Heidelberg at Pratten Park today.

Olympic went out and scored through striker Ken Wilson as early as the tenth minute.

Then, just after half time, a goal awarded to Mark Kossas enabled Wilson to put his team two goals ahead from the penalty spot.

Campbell strode through the centre to round goalkeeper Peter Wilson and slot the ball home.

Then, just as Ken Wilson had provided the goals, it was 19-year-old goalkeeper Peter Wilson who defied Heidelberg's might to keep the rampaging Melbournites at bay.

In the space of two minutes young Wilson produced saves that could hardly be equalled by any goalkeeper in Australia.

In the 85th minute he denied opposing striker Jamie Paton a goal by pushing in a searing shot round the post, and followed up with a one-handed aerial save from the same player.

The Bergers' luck was certainly out as their former national captain and midfielder Jim Rooney angled a shot just past the far post three minutes into injury time.

Olympic's opening goal was a well rehearsed affair. Inform midfielder Peter Raskopoulos delivered a free kick cross field to left-back Andy Scott, who accelerated to push the ball in front of Ken Wilson for an excellent goal.

"The only difference from plan was that we were looking for a header to finish it off," Olympic coach Doug Collins concluded.

Olympic was more than a little lucky that Brisbane referee Amos awarded him a penalty.

Heidelberg's defenders John Yzendoorn and Bob Provan were in close attendance to Kossas in the penalty box, but the action appeared to go little further than that.

Olympic officials said that if arrangements for their tour are completed shortly there will be a full announcement later in the week.

New winger Jimmy Redfern had a hand in the first half of the match on the park, showing some fine touches and a tactical maturity which are bound to prove valuable to Olympic.

Then, just after half time, a goal awarded to Mark Kossas enabled Wilson to put his team two goals ahead from the same player.

POLONIA

HAIL POLONIA!

By LAURIE SCHWARTZ

By the end of next year, if all goes according to plan, Polonia will open a million-dollar social club building at its ground in Raleigh Road, Maribyrnong.

The club already has town planning approval for the building, which will be financed by sponsors and contributions from the Polish community of Melbourne.

But for the moment, Polonia's main concern is to beat second-placed Western Suburbs on Sunday to achieve its aim of finishing the season with 36 points — four more than the total with which Doveton won the league last year.

It should be a hell of a match. Wests beat Polonia 4-3 last time, and so Polonia is out for revenge.

The rivalry may be continued in the State League next year. Polonia already has clinched promotion and Wests is second in line.

Polonia's success this year has been the result not only of skill on the field but also dedication and club loyalty.

Nine of the players are either products of the club or have had a long-standing association with it.

And coach Kaz Kowalec, a former Australian representative, is a club man through and through. He coached Polonia a few times before, and of course he was a star forward in the sixties and early seventies.

Having achieved top status in Victoria, Polonia now has a three-year plan to get into the PSL.

And there's no reason why the club shouldn't do it — PSL prejudice notwithstanding (what would Polonia change to — peacocks, porcupines, parakeets??).

Increased migration from Poland has strengthened not only Melbourne's Polonia, but also Polonia of Sydney.

And such immigration also strengthens the team.

Polonia has a proud history of great Polish players.

This year, for example, the team has been given watched State League games, Polonia was regarded as the finest team in the land. Its reputation lives on.

Polonia's decline coincided with the decline of immigration, and hit rock bottom in 1977 when the team was relegated from the State League.

But the club's pride and ambition did not wane.

Tad Lezon who, with Dr Charles Walker, was one of the main team builders of the early sixties, returned to the club and negotiated successfully for some talented players from Poland — Jan Gawlik, for example, Tad Rachwalski and the present goalkeeper, Leszek Dzielakowski.

Polonia now is negotiating for what would be the finest Polish player yet to come to Australia.

The name is being kept secret, but it is known he played in most of Poland's matches in the 1978 World Cup finals.

The club also has its eyes on a few talented young local players.

Team building will be no problem. Coach Kaz Kowalec, team manager Wally Klein and the senior players — Andy Czapnik, Marian Jaworski, Johnny Wallace — know most of the good Victorian players and have a keen eye for those who will fit in.

They're the men who make it happen

ANDY CZAPNIK, 33, midfield, longest-serving Polonia player in the squad, returned to the club last year after a stint with Western Suburbs, been out for much of the season through injury.

LESZEK DZIELAKOWSKI, 33, goalkeeper, ex Motor Lublin, Polish youth representative 1966-67 against Switzerland, Norway and Finland. Rated No. 1 goalkeeper in the league.

RICK LEPIARSKI, 30, full back, long-serving Polonia player who also had a stint with Ardeer.

MARIAN JAWORSKI, 25, centre back, like Andy Czapnik, returned to Polonia after a stint with Western Suburbs, during which that club won promotion to the State League.

JOE NIERMAN, 24, centre back, was centre forward when Polonia was last in the State League, but now excelling in defence.

MIKE PICHLER, 23, former Ardeer junior and State junior representative. Switched from the wing to full back with great success this year.

ALEX MARSHALL, 23, striker, former State junior rep, product of McKinnon Juniors, then played for Moreland and Richmond from where he joined Polonia a few months ago.

JOHN WALLACE, 30, midfielder, product of Melbourne Juniors, then played for Hakob, Croatia, APIA and Richmond. Represented Victoria.

PETER CZAPNIK, 24, midfielder, came up through the ranks. Tall, energetic, skilful. Younger brother of Andy.

TADEUSZ KRYZINSKI, 32, forward, ex Stal Rzeszow which was Polish champion in 1975, with Kryszinski playing up front.

MIREK SMOLAREK, 30, defender, ex-Slask Lodz, Polish junior rep 1965 against France, Switzerland, Italy, Greece and Germany. Arrived this year and is awaiting permanent residence status before he can play.

BRENDAN LAKIC, 23, forward, top scorer in the First Division, but was a goalkeeper at Fawkner.

GRZEGORZ GAMANSKI, 28, midfielder or full back, came from Poland last year. Brother of former Polonia coach Fr. Richard Gamanski.

STAN KLAJN, 29, defender, started with Kellar City Juniors, later played for Polonia, Adelaide, Ajax and Werribee from where he returned for his second stint with Polonia.

RYZARD SEKULSKI, 32, ex-Slask Milicz, forward or midfielder. Very experienced player with great skill and vision.

CHRIS GERICK, 17, forward, started with Kellar City Juniors, then Ajax Juniors, and joined Polonia from Kellar-Austria. State junior rep.

LARRY OSTROWSKY, 23, goalkeeper, Polonia product, returned to the club after playing for Footscray J.U.S.T.

RALPH ESPOSITO, 25, came up through the ranks, forward and former club top-scorer.

KAZ KOWALEC, coach, former Australian international.

PAWEŁ DZIELAKOWSKI, mascot, son of Leszek Dzielakowski.

To everyone associated with Polonia S.C. congratulations.

Champions in Polonia's foundation meeting was on August 13, 1950 at 95 Brighton Road, St. Kilda, and in its first match, the team beat J.U.S.T. 4-3.

The first committee, elected on August 27, was: J. Kowalki, president; W. Kwiatskowski, secretary; F. Zielinski, team manager; B. Mlewicki, coach; M. Terlikowski, ground manager.

The team in 1950 was: Mazurek, Czuderna, Dzura, Zablocki, Blaik, Jakubowski, Gaiecki, Koszanski, Chrzanowski, Gercarczyk and Cebula. Polonia started in the Fourth Division and in a spectacular run, lost only one game in two and a half years.

When the club moved to a new ground at Kooyong Park in 1951, Polonia celebrated by beating South Yarra by 10-0. Two weeks later it beat Frankston 8-3.

In 1954 Polonia had climbed into the First Division. It had taken only four years to get from the bottom to the top.

The following year it finished runner-up to First Division champion Juventus after twice drawing with Juventus.

From 1955 to 1959 Polonia played well but did nothing spectacular. It wasn't until 1960 that the club set the soccer world alight.

In 1956, the year of the Melbourne Olympics, Polonia officials took the opportunity to approach visiting members of the Polish Olympic Committee, who agreed to allow some of Poland's best players to come to Melbourne.

In return, Polonia promised

serving centre backs.

financial aid to help send Polish sportsmen to future Olympic Games.

But it took over two years to cut all the red tape and it wasn't until June, 1959, that the first five imports arrived at Essendon Airport to be greeted by the men responsible for starting the negotiations to bring them here — club president Dr. Charles Welker and secretary Ted Lazan.

The five were Vic Janeczyk and Marian Gasior of LKS Lodz, Riehard Szczepanek from Polonia Gdansk, Roch Dronia from Ruch Chorzow and Kaz Sygala from Sparta Chodakow.

They all stayed with Polonia for at least six years — Janeczyk for nine years and their contribution is evident from the team's record during this period:

1960 — State League championship and State League Cup.

1961 — State League Champion, Dockerty Cup and Ladlaw World Cup.

1963 and 1964 — Ampol Cup.

Twenty-eight years old when he arrived in Melbourne, Janeczyk was quickly hailed as Victoria's leading player.

During his nine-year career with Polonia, he won the Argus Medal and contributed enormously to soccer in Victoria as a regular player, captain of the State team and as one of Victoria's leading coaches.

After hanging up his boots in September, 1968, he became coach of Juventus and took his new club to second place on the ladder and to victory in the State League Cup.

Of the other imports, Marian Gasior became coach of Kallista City and brought the team from Fourth Division to the brink of State League in successive years from 1966 to 1969.

Roch Dronia made a brief comeback as coach of Polonia's reserve team when the club ran into difficulties in 1969.

Among other imports whose names will always be remembered in Victorian soccer history were stopper Wlodek Unclej, Henryk Rusickiewicz, inside forward Jana Janicewski, Argus Medal winner Stan Blasiek, brother Henryk and Robert Gronowski, winger Zigi Gadecki and Andrew Ziernicki, who represented Poland 47 times and who broke his ankle during his first match for Polonia.

Although they all returned to Poland, many outstanding players remained here permanently.

They included Jozef Dapont, Mikolaj Jurkiewicz, who was perhaps the best centre-forward ever to have played in Melbourne, and Kaz Kowalec, who played regularly for Victoria and represented Australia.

In the late sixties giant centre-half Joe Zurewski and goalkeepers Miro Litwin were brought from Poland to bolster the team and then came midfielder Eddy Widera. Litwin went on to coach Lions and Widera coached Central City. After winning the 1960 and 1961 championships, Polonia lost Merszakiewicz, Gennar Jurek, who was out for some time due to injury and Janeczyk, who went back to Poland temporarily.

Tony and Lolly Vella were recruited to cover some of the gaps.

Paddy Bannon's goal kills Cross

GEORGE CROSS v CROATIA 1 (P. Bannon)

GEORGE CROSS 6 — Gambin 7, Morgan 7, Maitland 7, McKinley 6 — McCann 4 (T. Kent 7th), G. Bannon 7, Rigby 7, Farmer 5 (penalty 5th), Murphy 6, Keenan 7. CROATIA: Blasko 7, Short 7, Kokoska 3, Ramilak 7, Blaver 7, Adams 7, P. Bannon 3, Murphy 6, Keenan 6, Brogan 7, Bedenovic 7 (penalty 75th).

Paddy Bannon's first goal since joining Croatia earlier this season decided this contest.

Bannon had been pushed into midfield by Alan Keenan suspended and 17-year-old Danny Ramilak was brought in as sweeper.

Ken Murphy picked up the ball in the 10th minute from a headed clearance out of the George Cross area. Murphy curled the ball in behind the Cross defenders trying to play ofside and Bannon was at the far post to control and slot it away.

Dave Rigby had a great chance to level in the first half when he broke clear on the right side of the area but shot wide of the far post.

The standard of play deteriorated in the second 45 minutes on a terrible Chaplin Reserve surface.

But chances still fell to both sides. Brian Keenan broke through onto a fine Dave Brogan header but shot into the side netting.

And again Rigby could have leveled but was denied as he shot from a fine tackle from Steve Short.

Steve Kokoska was outstanding, winning everything in the air.

Croatia still entertains a slim chance of winning the title. It looks like the Olympic Park clash with Ajax in a few weeks time will decide their championship race.

VITAL GAMES FOR WESTS, DONCASTER

The Victorian Leagues

Western Suburbs and Albion Rovers, locked together in a fierce struggle for second spot in First Division and promotion to the 1982 State League, face crucial games this weekend.

West faces up to title favorite Polonia while Rovers take on Kellor Astra.

But the struggle for second spot in Division Two is just as intense with Doncaster Rovers hosting promotion rival Frankston Pines on Saturday at Doncaster Park.

Both sides are confident.

Both sides are prepared for a tough, physical clash.

Doncaster coach Norm Hobson has a lot of respect for Tommy Randles' Pines outfit.

"Pines are a really good side and give 100%," said Hobson.

"I feel that we were unlucky not to pick up at least a point at their ground earlier this season but I'm confident of Saturday's game. We'll win it if we're close but we'll beat them."

Pines boast former Hakoah player Gerry Edmondson at sweeper and ex-Slavia striker Mick McGoran.

If Randles decides to use Sam Murray as stopper, Murray will have the fearsome task of stifling Doncaster's Robbie Forsyth while will o' the wisp winger Mario Anselmo will give the Pines plenty of trouble.

But Pines strike force

Malcolm a work force with close ball skills and a nose for goal. Malcolm comes up against Doncaster stopper Trevor Teer and their clash should be a match highlight.

Doncaster lies one point behind Pines with two games to go so it's all or nothing for the Rovers on Saturday but they'll find Pines a hell of a tough nut to crack.

MORELAND 2 (Hamill, Constantinou) POLONIA 3 (Marshall 2, P. Czapinski)

POLONIA: Dzialekowksi, Liparski, Harman, Pichner, Wallace, P. Czapinski, Garmenski, Krywalski, Marshall, Lekic.

Polonia won the First Division championship with this victory, but it had to fight back after falling behind and did not score its winning goal until two minutes from the end.

Hamill scored for Moreland after only seven minutes but Polonia attacked for the rest of the game and equalised through Peter Czapinski in the 41st minute, after a good pass from Brandon Lekic.

Full back Mike Pitchner cleared off the line, it was big Alex Marshall who shot Polonia into the lead in the 76th minute.

Constantinou equalised 10 minutes from the end, and both sides mobilised all their strength in a spirited climax.

Moreland, struggling to avoid relegation, had to succumb however when Marshall scored the winner, aided by Ted Krywalski.

Polonia's best were Marshall, Garmenski and Hamill.

If Randles decides to use Sam Murray as stopper, Murray will have the fearsome task of stifling Doncaster's Robbie Forsyth while will o' the wisp winger Mario Anselmo will give the Pines plenty of trouble.

BOX HILL 2 (Taylor, S. Patterson) KEILOR AUSTRIA 1 (O. Letif)

BOX HILL: Hearn, McLeod, Brownlie, Rae, Singleton, Ramos, Tolmie, Valentine, Patterson, Darlington, Taylor.

The Hill brought to an end a long winter of discontent when they recorded their 10th victory since 22 June in their encounter with Kellor Austria at Wembley Park on Saturday.

A goal in each half Box Hill was well served by Greg McLeod whose constructive ability, right back width and pace proved to be sufficient for Box Hill's cause, though a late rally by the visitors, during which they pulled one back, gave the home supporters severe palpitations in the dying minutes.

It was not until the 30th minute that they managed to find the loophole in the Austrian defence.

David Singleton picked up a long clearance by Andre Smale wide on the left. He headed the ball into the penalty area and the tall striker, picking the ball up in full stride, ran straight at the Kellor defence, drawing Smale and Campbell away from their defensive positions.

Patterson's angled pass into the penalty area caught the visitors' back four square, and Ray Taylor, racing into the gap, angled the ball past the despairing Frank Petersen.

In the 66th minute Box Hill increased the lead when Pedro Ramos hit a long innocuous ball into Austria's penalty area which the visitors failed to clear. Ian Darlington won possession, passed inside to Taylor who flicked on to the ball and left foot drive from 15 yards left Petersen helpless.

Austria replaced left back Dobson with George Craig, who added much needed bite to the front line, and pressurised Box Hill for the last fifteen minutes.

FOURTH DIVISION

MOORABBIN CITY 1 MORNINGTON 4

Mornington clinched promotion to Division Three with a 4-1 win at Moorabbin in blustery conditions.

Both teams were evenly matched, but Mornington opened the scoring with a goal midway through the first half.

Moorabbin had a golden opportunity to equalise from the penalty spot but the kick was saved by Mornington player-coach Nick van Egmond.

The second half saw the visitors further ahead with two more goals, before Moorabbin pulled one back through Kevin Skelton.

Almost from the kick-off Mornington restored its lead and finished a worthy winner.

Tutill's our player, says Zahra

Will Juventus pick up the gauntlet?

Are we witnessing the final demise of one of the greatest clubs in the history of Victorian soccer?

Victorian State League club George Cross claims that Graham Tutill, playing with rival club Frankston, is a George Cross player.

Cross alleges that it has a copy of a letter sent to Tutill earlier this year when the club informed him of his migration from England.

"Not only do we have the immigration document but we also have lodged a blue registration form and two pictures of Tutill with the VSF," said club president Alf Zahra.

"We asked the federation to apply for a clearance for Tutill, which it did successfully. We know because we have a yellow form from the federation saying that Tutill has been cleared to us."

"We met Graham and his wife at Tullamarine airport and two days later he came to watch us train."

"We found him accommodation and a job in the western suburbs, then one of our committee heard that Graham was working afternoons shift engineer and was unable to attend training," Zahra added.

"Then we read in 'Soccer Action' that Graham had been cleared to District Third Division club Cranbourne. What we want to know is how Cranbourne could have won a clearance from Graham when he was cleared to us?"

Zahra's claim has far-reaching consequences for Frankston, which brought Tutill back before the June 30 VSF transfer deadline for about $15,000 from Cranbourne.

Since then Frankston has picked up at least five points with Tutill in the side, to move clear of the relegation zone.

The key to the outcome of George Cross's claim could be the club's inability to come up with contractual evidence of Tutill's association with it.

Cross intended signing Tutill on his arrival.

Technically, when the VSF applies for a clearance it does so as a service to the club involved but the player is cleared to play under the auspices of the federation involved, not necessarily the club which brings the player here.

That's why cloak and dagger tactics at airports have occurred in the past. The player is cleared to play under the auspices of the VSF. Any members club then can sign him.

It looks like Cross missed the boat and there's nothing the club can do about it.

And there are a few commissioners in Frankston who will be breathing a sigh of relief.

Funny thing, though, George Cross claims that it has been billed by the VSF for telexes required to get tutill's clearance. CRAIG MACKENZIE

Vassallo recently started a new job with TAA and was unable to play but Ajax

thanks to two goal Gus

McLeod and a dreadful first half blunder by Hakoah keeper

Mike Fryzar.

Hakoah took the lead in the first half when Sean Rooney was at the near post to force home. Bill Jordano's clever flick across goal but within minutes scores were level.

Ajax seemed to fiddle around with the ball on the edge of the Hakoah area, refuing to take shooting chances, then Jim Williams knocked the ball wide. Kit Greechan whose first time shot curled and dipped into the far corner of goal as Fryzar stood transfixed at the near post.

Gordon Wallace, struggling to throw off a hamstring injury took a header on Ajax's left.

Gus McLeod charged to the near post and rose well, glancing the ball with a firm header, across the goal line as three players tried to clear.

Wallace's injury proved too restrictive so he was replaced by Bill Morley. Morley played the ball across field to young

Dave Hobgen who played a one-two with Williams and charged into the area. The Ajax youngster crossed low to Wall and Danny Davidson who both missed the ball which fell for McLeod to tap it in at the post.

Juventus pushed men forward for the remaining 13 minutes but was unable to break through.

Neither side was prepared to build up play and support its two lonely front runners.

Indeed for most of the match the front runners battled to gain control and snatched out of defence. Usually the battle was in vain as either outfit seemed content to sit back.

It was desperate, bottom of the table stuff, Brian Sinclair was substituted late in the game for fear of incurring the full wrath of the referee and John O'Callaghan pushed up into Sinclair's front line role.

It was O'Callaghan who crossed the right time ball which fell for Greener to tap in from the Shiners stumble on 'potato field'

Frankston at Chaplin Reserve on Saturday.

The Shiners started off brightly enough, as though a win over lowly Frankston was a mere formality and the goals would come as a matter of course, but although they busied themselves swarming round the Frankston penalty area for some time, they found the rapidly-maturing Dave Gilbert in superb form, well supported by cool Sandy Irvine and Bob Adams.

Sunshine failed to clear, and Bill Buchanan, rising high, neatly flicked the ball over the flat-footed Alan Contini.

Just to show it wasn't a fluke, that long-serving Frankston stalwart Bob Adams snatched another two minutes after the break, with the Sunshine defenders all looking at each other in bewilderment, and only referee Colin Johns knows why he disallowed a third goal in the 78th minute when Buchanan apparently nutmegged Contini after a sharp run.

Both sides deserve a medal for managing to run for 90 minutes on a pitch that resembled a potato field more than a soccer ground — LES SHORROCK.

THE FA GUIDE TO TEACHING
FOOTBALL
ALLEN WADE

$16.00

Designed for schoolteachers, parents as well as merit youth leaders and others in charge of coaching boys, this book provides a new kind of guide to the skills and tactics of Association football. It is graded to suit the ages of seven to sixteen and divided up into units so as to cover the needs of each section. It is also suitable for the less knowledgeable teacher and one which caters for older children and the more experienced teacher — although both sections may be used equally by either group. A specially devised series of Super Skills cards are included, designed according to the skill-level of the child, and also as a unifying factor in achieving objectivity and continuity.

Even the teacher who finds the task of teaching football somewhat daunting since most youngsters know quite a lot about the game before starting to play seriously will find this manual invaluable.

Many drawings and illustrations are keyed to the text.

Allen Wade is an internationally acknowledged authority on football genetics and on coaching and training in particular. He is a former player and coach to

The Football Association since 1963 and a member of the European Technical Committee since 1964. He played as an amateur for English Universities and the Universities' Athletic Union before becoming a professional player with West Ham United F.C. and is a former lecturer in Physical Education at Loughborough University. Allen Wade is married and has two sons.

CROATIA ON TOP, PSL NEXT?

Croatia's Brazilian goal ace, Marcos Silva, was carried off the field a hero after scoring all three goals as Croatia turned the tables on New South Wales State League rival St George.

Both clubs will apply for PSL membership in 1982 and Croatia is the front runner.

Croatia deserved to win before an appreciative crowd of 9750 at King Tomislav Park, the highest crowd of the season in State League soccer.

With three games to go Croatia now holds a one point lead over St George and is a narrow favourite for the NSW title.

In other matches Melita and Polonia drew 1-1, fourth placed Sutherland drew 0-0 with Auburn, Riverwood beat Monaro 2-1, Avala defeated North Sydney 4-0, Manly won 3-0 against Parramatta, and bottom placed Bankstown defeated Monaro 2-0, while on Saturday Manly and Polonia drew 0-0 in a deferred game.

Croatia had by far the better of the first half as St George found it tough to get going and never got near the Croatian goal.

It came as no surprise to see Marcos Silva put Croatia ahead after 35 minutes when he finished off good work down the right wing by Peter Hensman.

Just six minutes later Silva was in again when he hammered home after Neilo Borges has worked the ball through the defence from the left.

After half time St George came out much more determined, but was spoilt by the tough Croatian defence.

Steve Watson, in goal for Croatia, was called on to make a number of good saves, while twice St George attackers hit the posts.

Scoring ace, Dez Mar-ton, had a poor game and could never get into the thick of things amongst the tight defence.

The goal that put the seal on Croatia's victory came almost against the run of play four minutes from the end when substitute Brian Parker crossed in from wide out on the right.

St George goalkeeper Mike Fraser failed to hold the ball and ever attentive Silva was on the spot to slot the ball home.

Third placed Melita could only manage a point against a determined Polonia side in a 1-1 draw highlighted by missed chances.

Both goals were scored in the second half, Melita's from the penalty spot scored by Mike Berry, and Polonia equalising through forward Anito Budini.

Polonia now is edging towards Sutherland's fourth spot, with Auburn snatching a point off Sutherland in a 0-0 draw.

Manly and Riverwood continue to move up the table, Manly defeating Parramatta 3-0 away from home and Riverwood winning Canterbury 2-1.

At the foot of the table Avala scored a convincing 4-0 victory over an injury depleted North Sydney, while Bankstown scored a surprise 2-1 win over Monaro, which is placed sixth in the table.

Kids off to NZ and US

By Fred Brooks

It looks as if travel across the Tasman for junior soccer teams is on the increase.

A representative team from the Auckland area will be here towards the end of August to play games in Ballarat and also to play the State U/13 squad.

Next year the State U/15 squad will be going to New Zealand to play games against top New Zealand teams.
